- a. Data provided for these sectors reflects an updated and improved methodology and/or scope compared to the study cited in Martinich and Crimmins (2019). For aeroallergens, see Neumann et al. (2019 – Geohealth, doi 10.1029/2018GH000153). For coastal, see Neumann et al. (in review, Journal of Infrastructure Systems).
- b. The Access database of crop yields for the Agriculture sector contains the raw outputs from the EPIC model. The changes in the crop yields provided as an Excel spreadsheet represent the results after optimization in FASOM.
